ABBRA Roundtable To Include Health Insurance Representative

Free marine industry roundtable at Bristol Marine will include guest speaker

Warren, RI—The American Boat Builders & Repairers Association (ABBRA) has invited long-time health-insurance professional Robert Driscoll to its next roundtable discussion on June 29 at Bristol Marine (Rhode Island) from 4:00 p.m. to 7:00 p.m. Driscoll will answer questions about how health-care reform will affect small businesses in the recreational boating industry. The free roundtable discussion is open to ABBRA members and non-members.

“We invite all small businesses within the marine industry to take advantage of this unique opportunity to openly discuss their concerns,” Doug Domenie, ABBRA president, says. “We hope to bust the myths and talk to others who are facing this same situation. And, it’s free!”

Robert Driscoll, a graduate of the University of Rhode Island, has worked for several large insurance companies and has owned and operated an insurance agency in Wickford, Rhode Island, for nearly a decade. For the past 10 years, Driscoll has worked for National Employee Benefit Companies (NEBCO), which is now the benefits division of American Wholesale Insurance Group (AMWINS). AMWINS is the second largest wholesale brokerage in the United States. Driscoll’s area of expertise is small group medical insurance where he oversees a group comprised primarily of members of various Rhode Island Chambers of Commerce.

The regional roundtables are open to both ABBRA members and non-members. For more information, or to register for either of these events, please call Jessica Slemons at 401-247-0318 or email jslemons@abbra.org. Please RSVP no later than Friday, June 11, 2010.
